CONTINUING AND PROFESSIONAL EDUCATION

Using Your Veterans Educational Benefits

Get the most out of your Veterans Administration educational benefits with courses from UC Davis Extension. Veterans of the U.S. military who have available educational benefits can enroll in UC Davis Extension certificate programs and obtain reimbursement from the VA. UC Davis Extension has approval under the Veterans Educational Benefits program to allow veterans, their dependents and others who qualify for Veterans Educational Benefits to further their education via one of our certificate programs.

UC Davis Extension is the professional and continuing education branch of UC Davis and your link to the many resources you can only get from the University of California. We have been providing top-quality education to the greater Sacramento region and beyond for more than 50 years.

Each quarter we offer a broad range of subjects to help you launch a new career, prepare for greater responsibilities in your current line of work or enrich your personal life. All of our courses meet the rigorous standards of the University of California, so you can count on quality, university-level curricula.

One of our hallmarks at UC Davis Extension is our expert faculty. You'll learn from engaging instructors with years of industry and agency experience who can help you take your professional development to the next level.

Discover our in-depth training programs

Accelerate your professional advancement with one of our focused training programs. A UC Davis Extension certificate or specialized study program says you've committed to a deeper understanding of your area of interest. Some certificates prepare you to take accreditation exams or meet state-mandated requirements for continuing education. Take advantage of our expanding array of online programs that can be completed anywhere, any time.

“After just one class in Project Management, my management and operational skills improved. Later PMP certification will allow me to complete my goals of obtaining an MBA and further advancement with the U.S. NAVY and as a government contractor after active duty. I am currently stationed in Japan and needed an online educational program that was available from the ship and on land.”

Lt. Bryan Weatherup, U.S. NAVY
