

UPCOMING MIGRATION AND HEALTH COURSES

ONLINE

Introduction to Migration and Health

Explore trends in international migration and the impact of migration on community health in the countries of origin, transit and destination. Understand migration as a social determinant of health and how it influences incidences of chronic and infectious diseases, occupational injuries and illnesses, and mental health and maternal health concerns. Other topics covered include sources of data on migration and health, roles and responsibilities of national and international organizations, and health implications of forced migration.

- Enroll now through Jan. 16 and complete by April 6. Passwords issued starting Jan. 23.

Credit option (3.0 quarter units academic credit, 12.0 hours CME credit)

- $1,025. Enroll in section 113MGH100.

NEW nonacademic-credit option for 2012* (12.0 hours CME credit)

- $895. Enroll in section 113MGH110.

Instructor

ALFONSO RODRIGUEZ LAINZ, Ph.D., DVM, MPVM, is migrant health specialist for the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, Division of Global Migration and Quarantine. He oversees pilot surveillance projects that target migrant communities for federal and local agencies as well as implements public health interventions.

ONLINE

Clinical Issues in Migration and Health

Explore the impact of migration on patient health and wellbeing. Significant attention is given to a variety of diseases and conditions as well as treatment contexts, including primary care, specialty care, environmental and occupational health, dental care and mental health treatment. Learn about disparities in access and service delivery, cultural factors that impact treatment outcomes, and models of cultural competency to address multifaceted issues of culture in the healthcare setting.

- Enroll now through April 16 and complete by June 29. Passwords issued starting April 16.

Credit option (3.0 quarter units academic credit, 12.0 hours CME credit)

- $1,025. Enroll in section 114MGH101.

NEW nonacademic-credit option for 2012* (12.0 hours CME credit)

- $895. Enroll in section 114MGH111.

Instructor

JENNIE MCLAURIN is a pediatrician and educator who has been serving migrant communities for the last 25 years. She assists the Migrant Clinicians Network with an initiative to improve immunization coverage to migrant families, which is sponsored by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

These courses cannot be applied to the professional concentration award in Migration and Health.*

General information

Discounts

Organizations enrolling three or more people at the same time in Migration and Health courses may do so for 10 percent off each enrollment. All registrations must be submitted at the same time and fees paid with one check, credit card or purchase order. The course Clinical Issues in Migration and Health also has a 10 percent discount for members of CPCA (California Primary Care Association).

Continuing Medical Education

Physician Credit

The University of California, Davis Health System designates this enduring material activity for a maximum of 12.0 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should only claim credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Accreditation

The University of California, Davis Health System is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

Partners

UC Center of Expertise on Migration and Health
UC Migration and Health Research Center
UC Global Health Institute

Earn a Professional Concentration in Migration and Health

For information on this certificate, visit the website.

Have a group that needs training?

We can tailor this course to meet the unique needs of your organization or group at a reduced rate. Call today for additional information (800) 752-0881.

extension.ucdavis.edu/migrationhealth

113 151

